Rollins Focus

Rollins among best in nation for combining academics and athletics

Rollins ranks 15th in the nation among colleges and universities for quality in academics and athletics, just behind Princeton and Columbia (tied for 13th) and just ahead of Dartmouth and Yale (tied for 16th) according to the National Collegiate Scouting Association (NCSA). The NCSA's Collegiate Power Rankings are based on student-athlete graduation rates, U.S. News & World Report rankings, and the strength of athletic departments at NCAA Division I, II, and III colleges and universities. Rollins' results this year outpace its 37th overall position last year. Rollins also moved from #3 to #2 in NCSA's rankings of all Division II schools. More...

Q&A:

Asking You

In each PLC Quarterly, we ask you a question of importance to Rollins.

Exemplifying excellence in academics and athletics, Rollins' women's soccer team won the Sunshine State Conference season championship, in October, for the third time in the College's history.

Q: Can you suggest potential speakers, especially any contacts you might have, to consider for Commencement this spring?

A: We value your thoughts and suggestions!

PLC Initiatives Update

President's Contemporary Council (PCC)

A new advisory group called the President's Contemporary Council has formed and will meet in early February on the Rollins campus. Responses to President Duncan's invitation have been swift as new PCC members seem eager for the opportunity to offer insights on strategic initiatives at Rollins. There will an opportunity for members of the PLC to meet and network with the PCC the evening of Feb. 1, when both groups will be on campus.

Students pursue social entrepreneurship

Students are actively learning about social entrepreneurship with assistance from Rollins' Social Entrepreneurship and Sustainability initiative (SESi). At the invitation of the Clinton Global Initiative University (CGI U), eight student teams from Rollins will submit proposals for ventures ranging from an educational program for women in impoverished countries to a social-enterprise restaurant that provides culinary training to the homeless. In spring 2013, selected groups will participate in the annual CGI U workshop-based conference where they will be paired with world-renowned experts and additional resources to help them implement their ideas.

Spirituality task force submits recommendations

Students, faculty, and staff serving on the spirituality task force have met this fall and discussed various ways the campus can expand opportunities for spiritual life on campus. To assess current efforts, the task force completed an audit of all activities with a spiritual component. Dean Patrick Powers, dean of the Knowles Memorial Chapel and chaplain to the College, summarized the task force's findings and recommendations in a proposal submitted to President Duncan in late November.
